By Arthur Brisbane

TROTSKY is supposed to be raising an army of his henchmen to fight against Bolshevism; those that excited him and others of Lenin's associates.

A fight for supremacy will come some day in Russia. Trotsky probably will not lead it. He is a consumptive in weak health and it would take a man with terrific force, mental and physical, the type of Peter the Great or even the Terrible, to terrorize and organize 200,000 Russian villages into a fighting army.

"The night hath a thousand eyes, the day but one," says an old song.
The heavens have a thousand eyes, and Jack Dempsey only two. But millions in the United States, as Mr. Rickard has testified, are more interested in Mr. Dempsey's two eyes than in all the eyes that shine above.

Therefore news that Dempsey is going blind is much more important than the falling of many stars would be.
Financially speaking, Mr. Dempsey's eyes are worth more than a million dollars apiece whereas there is actually no financial value to the eyes "that shine in the belt of Orion."

Later news, you may be glad to hear, says Mr. Dempsey's trouble is temporary and will not interfere with his fights as planned.
Thence, at war with the Spanish government, when he died, cannot be buried in his own country. His friends will bring Spanish soil from Danco's own garden among the orange groves of California and have him buried in that soil on French territory.

It will make little difference to Danco, who, according to the belief of millions, is even now getting from St. John exact details about the four horsemen of the Apocalypse, perhaps studying the White, Red, Black and Pale, as they ride out the unknown.

The government has a new "do-natural" that, mixed with alcohol, makes it "taste terrible," but not poisonous.
The government will learn that terrible taste will not discourage confirmed drinkers. A deterrent that would cause instant vomiting, without serious injury, would probably be as good as anything.
But why must the government poison, or half poison, any of its citizens?

LINDBERGH FLYING AT OVER 100 MILES AN HOUR NEARS VIRGIN ISLANDS

New York, Jan. 31.—The French Cable Company announced this afternoon receipt of advice from Beane Terre, Gaudaloupe, that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, bound to Virgin Island, on a 1,000-mile hop from Maracay, Venezuela, passed over that place at 2:20 p. m., local time (1:30 p. m. Boston time).
Beane Terre is about 150 miles in an air line from St. Louis, and Lindbergh made it in one hour and thirty minutes. If he can maintain his speed he should reach St. Thomas about 3:35 p. m., Boston time.

Lindbergh's line from Barcelona to St. Vincent, Windward Islands, indicates that he flew a long stretch over the Caribbean Sea. The distance of his flight up to that point was close to 500 miles.

MAN KILLED BY SMOKE AT BEACON HILL BLAZE

Death by suffocation claimed Louis Kunitzky, 31, visitor to the Hub from Halifax, N. S., today, as he raced in his room, while he fled from a fire in the Beacon Hill. The blaze started under the bed, police say, from a candle in the room.

Horace McManis and McManis worked over the unconscious form, while the police tried to reach the fire department in the Beacon Hill.

HAVE, Sussex, England, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—The Earl of Warwick, who was aide-camp to Lord French during the war and later was attached to the staff of General J. J. Popham, died today after a lengthy illness. He was forty-five years old.

BUSHNELL SEEKS FACTS IN FATAL BLAST; BODIES OF 6 VICTIMS ARE FOUND

The body of a sixth victim of the explosion which rocked West Newton and part of Waltham was found today in the wreckage of the building where the blast occurred, State detectives, assigned by District Attorney Bushnell of Middlesex county, launched an investigation of the tragedy.

A search for more bodies amid the wreckage was ordered and Newton firemen went to work at this task.

The sixth body was identified as that of Salvatore Lacava, a builder, of Trapelo road, Waverley.

A seventh victim of the explosion is dying.

Dealing with the tragedy was caused by the explosion of a keg, followed by a much greater explosion of alcohol vapor in the cellar of the building.

CLERGYMEN AID FIGHT FOR SPORTS ON SUNDAY

Two Protestant clergymen joined with ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald today to urge the Legislature to pass a bill to prohibit professional sports on Sundays.

Following this action members of the school committee voted unanimously to support the bill.

The bill, which would prohibit professional sports on Sundays, was introduced by the Rev. Paul S. Spaulding of Melrose.

"Professional sports is the life of athletes. It gives growing boys the chance to develop their physical and mental powers."

RUNAWAY PASTOR AND CHOIR GIRL IN 'SPIRITUAL LOVE'

HIDDEN FROM THREATS

3-year-old Betty McArdle of Kidder avenue, West Somerville, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. McArdle, fear harm may be done here because of threats made over the phone.

SOUTH END GIRL DYING AS RESULT OF BURNS

Lillian Biles, 17 years old, is dying at City Hospital of burns suffered when her night garments caught on fire while she was holding the gas stove at her home, No. 7 Norwalk street, South End, today.

MARRIED CLERIC PRAYED FOR 'GUIDANCE'

A confession of their mutual love and a disclosure that they have for spiritual guidance before running away were contained in the notes left behind by Rev. Luther L. Holmes, formerly of Boston, and Miss Katherine De Haven, 26-year-old choir singer, when they fled to gether from Watertown, N. J.

Made public today, those notes, scribbled in one of the missing girl's mother and the runaway minister's notes, revealed details of a clandestine love affair of steadily increasing intensity between the forty-five-year-old minister and the twenty-year-old choir singer.

The messages showed that, after several secret meetings, each of which was preceded by prayer for guidance, the two finally reached a decision that nothing should stand in the way of their love.

A meeting in a dwelling was described in one of the notes, in which the minister explained that he entered by one door, the girl by another. Then in separate rooms they knelt down and prayed. This part of the note ended with a confession.

"I love her better than anything else on earth," were Holmes' closing words to his wife, whom he left practically penniless.

She borrowed funds from friends for passage to Boston, where she was to join her husband.

The girl's father today said: "My daughter had never had a sweetheart until this man came. She was always a good girl, she never was around any boys. When she comes this forty-five-year-old man and her whole life is changed."

"WELL, I MET THAT GUY!"

Mayor Gillis of Newburyport leaves train at South Station and hastens to his home town to resume the reins of government, unrecognized by the early morning throng of workers. He says Mayor Walker will pay him a return visit.

'BOSSY' GILLIS HAS $3 GRAVAT; GET THAT?

Newburyport, Jan. 31.—From the bright lights of Broadway where he "bashed 'em dead" to this city, where "most of 'em were dead long ago"—from the illustrious spender of "Tex" Quinn's place to the career years of Lyons Cafe—"Bossy" Gillis came home today.

He came in style—in a Pullman, not (NOR) it is as once he was wont to travel. His "23 Ma or suit" survives the journey in excellent fashion, and the Fifth Avenue haberdasherie, which never flourished from the patronage of Andrew J. Bennett to the extent of "one cravat—"

To be sure, the fiery Mayor needed a shave, but he was forced to crawl out of a sleeping car at 7 a. m. and, besides, he is too polite to himself, he's needed a shave before. You can't blame that on New York.

"Jimmy Walker is a regular guy," said "Bossy." "And Jim Curry is a good scout."

"That story that they pulled a lot of highbait words on me when we didn't see any big words. I understood everything that was said."

"To be sure and get this over," said the Mayor. "Jimmy Walker said to me, he said, 'You're all right, Bossy, you're one of our own kind. Be sure and put that in.'"

"Bossy" was a little vague as to the exact meaning of the phrase, but it sounded good.

"Bossy's" trip to New York had been a disappointment. Then it was attached to a sightseeing expedition, it developed today. In other words, Newburyport is going to benefit by a new traffic system patterned after Fifth avenue.

"Of course, it won't be as elaborate," said "Bossy," "but it'll be a big improvement over what we got now and when we get it in it'll be to tell with the dead-end drivers."

"Everybody over there is jake," opined "Bossy."

On route home the Mayor read of the fire which last night destroyed a coal bucket here and his first official visit was to the ruins. Tonight he is scheduled to attend banquets here and in the city and to give his presence to the meeting of the general government committee.

ST. MARK'S ASKS TO HOLD PROPERTY UP TO $5 MILLION

Dr. William G. He points out that the persons so charged have no control over their actions and that great danger exists at their homes.

In prosecuting such cases, the registrar advises the police to bring a charge of "obscuring so that the lives and safety of the public might be endangered."

HUB PATROLMAN WARNED OF JAIL AS WIFE-BEATER

Testimony that a Boston policeman, Patrolman Thomas D. Arnold, of the Charlestown division, beat his wife, went out and did his tour of duty, and then returned to beat her again, was given in Somerville court today.

Somerville officers, summoned by his wife, were waiting for him when he returned to their home on Rhode Island avenue, East Somerville, the second time, and they placed him under arrest.

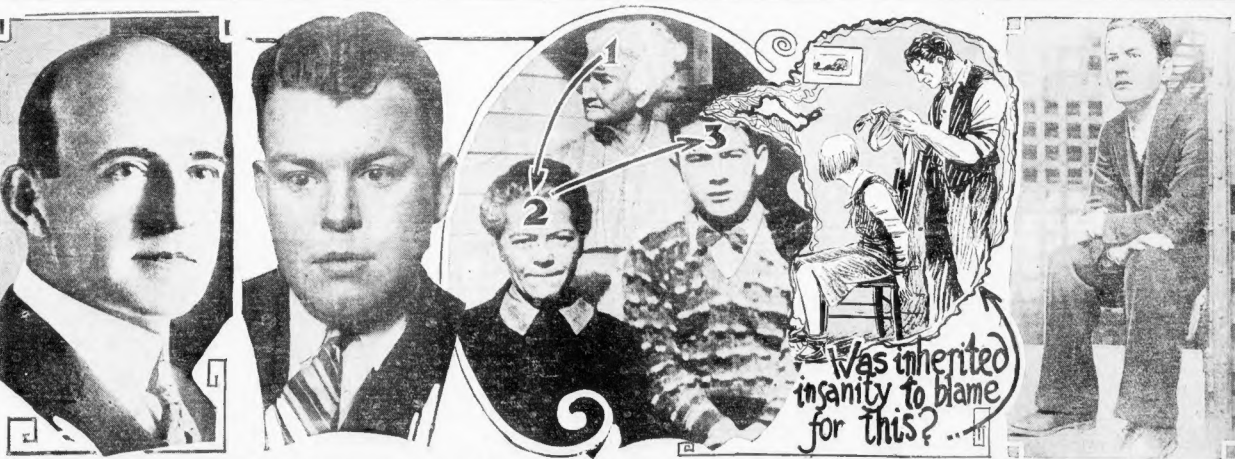

This is not the first time a woman around any time you take a notion in your head to do it," said Judge M. H. Sturtevant in finding Arnold guilty of assault and battery. He warned the policeman that if he placed his wife again a six-month sentence in the House of Correction would be meted out, and then placed him in the custody of the probation officer until February 7.

Mrs. Irene D. Arnold testified that her husband, punched her twice, knocking her head against the wall, and then left the house to do his tour of duty on the first half in Charlestown. She notified the Somerville police, and Sgt. "Case" Sherry with Patrolman Alfred McFadden were sent to the house.

Sgt. Sherry testified that Arnold returned at one o'clock in uniform, and, after entering the house, he placed his wife against a table. Sherry placed him under arrest, but was forced to use his club to subdue the infuriated wife.

At the Somerville station Arnold was locked up on a charge of assault and battery. Capt. Michael J. Toff of the Charlestown division attended to him.

TRACE HICKMAN KIN'S INSANITY

New York, Jan. 31.—(U.S.S.)—Harry P. Leyenthal, 51, of Manchester, Mass., was picked up barely conscious in a starving condition on 86th street, Brooklyn, today by Patrolman Senezier, who rushed him to Coney Island Hospital.

Leyenthal said he left the Bay State city four weeks ago to seek work here, and that he had spent all his funds since arrival. He had been wandering in a dazed condition for several days, he said.

Further delay in the North Station Terminal & its utilities was quashed today in Supreme Court when Judge Willes ruled that the railroad had no equity against the Boston & Maine Railroad so that Fred T. Field, master in the controversy, might withdraw his equity into the cost of the project.

The motion was made by Attorney Conrad Crooker, counsel for Edward F. Wall, president of the railroad, and the petitioner had a right to show the amount of cost for the portion of the building not actually required.

Frederick H. Nash, counsel for the railroad, scored delay and said Crooker has examined both witnesses and the motion for delay. He predicted further delay would continue the hearings nearly a year.

Judge Wall ruled a day and one hour was sufficient for the railroad to show enough to show the reasonable cost of the station.

With the report of a break in the John D. Runkle school, Brookline, occurred today, charges of breaking and entering were placed against two Cambridge youths, who were arrested in the Fisher Hill section of Brookline by Patrolman Martin LaFollette, who noticed them acting suspiciously.

The men, who gave their names as Edwin A. Ryan, 18, of Hurley street, and James W. Richards, 19, of 1000 Cambridge street, both Cambridge, were charged with possession of burglar tools.

MENJO FILM TO STAR RUTH CHATTERTON

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS.

Los Angeles, Jan. 31.—There has never been any doubt in my mind that Ruth Chatterton would one day play motion pictures, after she had made a name for herself in the stage. With those three assets to act, to be turned loose in Hollywood and not eventually find herself looking into a camera.

Frances Farmer-Lasky has signed Miss Chatterton. Oh, don't think for a moment that information came to me from her or from anyone in the studio. I just heard it while she was appearing at the Paramount Theatre. By listening a little while, I also learned that she will play opposite Adrienne Maitland in "Dancer of the Galaxy," her next picture to be directed by Robert Leon.

The flight to England resembles the covered-wagon exodus to the West. She is the only star in Hollywood to do it. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thayer went to England in 1917. They aren't saying a word about it, but if a chance arises, they will say that they don't believe it. Thayer will refuse it.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock are sailing the Spirit. So are the other stars. A little while ago, they will take her to see a honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock will make a picture for Paramount. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock will make a picture for Paramount. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock will make a picture for Paramount.

Call Radio Antennae a Menace to Life and Property

Every radio owner in the State will have to look to his antennae locations if a bill signed by the electric light interests at a hearing today before the legislative Committee on Power and Light is enacted into law.

He asked that the wire commissioners' authority be extended to all wiring, public or private.

$10,000 BAIL IN FATAL HIT-RUN CASE

Accused of being the hit-and-run driver who killed a nine-year-old East Boston girl on Saturday, January 21, and injured her sister, Charles F. Collins, thirty-five, of Main street, Winthrop, was held in $10,000 bail today in East Boston Court on a charge of manslaughter. The case will go before the Federal grand jury of the Grand Jury. Boston's manslaughter charge, granted from the death of little Grace Collins of Porter street, Collins has since automobile charges against him. He could not put up the bail demanded.

Collins was arrested shortly after the fatal accident, but it was not until today, when he went to court to answer to other charges, that the authorities were ready to move him in connection with the child's death. His arrest occurred some distance from the spot at Porter and Chelsea avenues, where the child was killed. He was captured, according to the police, running away from his automobile, which was wrecked in a collision with a traffic beacon at Day square.

Aid WLOE to Decide Its Wave Length

THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN and the New England Broadcasting Company are desirous of making WLOE one of the most useful and entertaining radio stations in New England. Many letters have been received complimenting the officials of the station on the quality of the broadcasts and the types of programs offered.

Some complaints have been received from listeners who have had difficulty tuning in the new station. It is necessary to move to a higher wave length to bring the station within reach of the average receiving set, officials of the station will make every effort to do so.

In order to get a majority opinion as to the advisability of asking the Federal Radio Commission for a new wave length assignment, will you please fill out and sign this coupon and mail it to WLOE, Boston Evening American, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

Are you able to tune WLOE satisfactorily?

Are you able to tune WLOE at all?

Do WLOE programs come in faintly?

Are WLOE programs marred by interference when tuned in?

Are you of the opinion that a higher wave length would improve receiving conditions for WLOE, and do you recommend petitioning the Federal Radio Commission?

Eugenic Baby 'Carries Stigma,' Says Elmer Glyn

ALL HEARTS
ACQU
FOR CHILD

Elmer Glyn, noted author, in the following article, the second of a series, presents her views of the eugenic baby of Mrs. Grace McCalister Burnham, New York woman who bore a child "by arrangement" with an unnamed man of tested health and character.

By ELMER GLYN
New York, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Now, let us look at the eugenic baby's side—let us take the case of the little one having been a boy, not a girl as in the current case.

Now little Johnnie starts in life with a concentrated love surrounding him—a love which is the outcome of a female passionate urge for motherhood—abstract motherhood—not particularized motherhood—because the very fact that a woman desires a eugenic baby shows that she admits that it is not love for a particular man—and the desire to reproduce love's likeness which is the cause of the dilemma.

He came into being, merely because his mother "was mad to have a child." So he starts saturated by the same kind of love which exists or does give their infant offspring—either physical devotion which only concentrates upon the needs of the baby.

A THING APART
Not as other kids. As soon as he takes his first breath, he becomes unconsciously aware that he is not looked upon as another child.

He is a thing apart. Where is his father? He does not know. But he does know that, however, financially respectable his mother may be, she is not universally considered to be an immediate member of society, and because of all this, by the time Johnnie is a year old, he also will probably have acquired "reps" on the shoulder.

And in any case, being the illegitimate possession of his mother, he will only have known since his birth the forming of his subconscious mind—the worst thing possible to a boy—and it is more than probable that he will not have a face situation like the one in the immortal "silver cord" where the possessing mother love is shown, a very strong eugenic baby may possibly achieve great things, but the odds are against him.

At all events, he will have known his father's influence, and a man of him, and even if he really of the stuff of a hero, he will have been greatly handicapped.

UNDER A STIGMA
Unless he can have been situated in a community which entirely accepts the new ethics of woman choosing motherhood without outside help, he will have grown up under a stigma.

It is not conceivable that when he arrives at his mother's estate he will not be met by a mother for having pursued this downward situation? Illegitimate love children have not money, and money and then to great indignation and a very strong eugenic baby may possibly achieve great things, but the odds are against him.

FINDS U. S. HUBBIES ARE ABUSED

ENGLISH ACTRESS PHOTOGRAPHED TODAY IN BOSTON
Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale photographed today at the home of Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw in Beacon street, where she is a guest, and where she gave some sound opinions on American husbands, wives, girls, marriage and love. She thinks husbands over here give too much and get too little.

OPEN AMERICAN AIRWAYS TO THE WORLD

Havana, Jan. 31 (I.N.S.)—With two major questions settled, all eyes of the Pan-American Conference were turned today toward the question of opening American airways to the world.

By the defeat of Mexico's amendment, the prestige and good faith of the United States in the affairs of the Pan-American union were overwhelmingly indicated. By the second decision regarding air travel, the conference advocated a difficulty as to the dominance and poise of the American Republics in the Western Hemisphere.

Georgia Girl Asks Hickman's Lawyer to Marry Her

Los Angeles, Jan. 31 (I.N.S.)—Attorney Jerome Walsh of Kansas City, chief defender of William Edward Hickman, today was pondering over a letter from an Atlanta, Ga., girl, whom he has never met.

The girl wrote she had fallen in love with his photograph and asked him to wed her because she "knew" he was just the man for her.

Walsh is 75, handsome, a wealthy and a member of the Missouri state Legislature. He said he would marry it, but not in the affirmative.

In truth, there is no such thing in man's nature as a settled and full resolve either for good or evil, except at the very moment of execution.—Hawthorne.

SLEW DOCTOR AS SON DIED; NOW FACES 20 YEARS

New York, Jan. 31 (A.P.)—Frances Caruso was sentenced today to prison for life for the murder of her son, Dr. Charles Caruso, who was killed by a bullet fired from a revolver.

At his first trial Caruso was found guilty of first degree murder and was sentenced to death. The Court of Appeals ordered a new trial, which was granted on the selection of a jury yesterday.

The plea of guilty to second degree murder, although the charge was first degree, was permitted under the provisions of the district attorney.

The penalty for second degree murder is the imprisonment for from 20 years to life. For first degree murder the death sentence is mandatory.

U. S. GIRLS TAKE LIFE TOO EASY

The American maid is on the receiving end of a most artistic pasting in the great contest of the games between the wife and (in this corner) the docile, submissive hubby.

That, at least, is the opinion of Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, English actress and author, who is in Boston today as the guest of Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw of Beacon street for a lecture under the auspices of the League of Women Voters.

The American husband, in Mrs. Hale's opinion, stands at a disadvantage on his home ground, and he is what is in the way of marital peace for his many companions.

U. S. HUSBANDS
The Englishwoman, while a modernist, does not approve companionate marriages. She thinks domestic life, but her three grown daughters have been trained in the American marital belief that "what's yours is mine and what's mine's not."

"Most American men," she says, "leave from their wives and get even less in return." She said, "Now, English husbands, they aren't so engrossed in business, and so they don't demand as much of their wives. They want a home and all its comforts with the luxurious attention of a mother and children to parakeets of it."

"But your American husbands are so rushed during the day making time to support the wives who spend all night they want more pleasures, and so out they go, entertaining and being entertained."

GIRLS REARED WRONG
It isn't that husbands give wives too much, Mrs. Hale explained, but that they ask too little in return for what they give.

"The average girl is taught for future responsibilities," she said, "that she is to be a mother and a housewife. The daughter of the rich gets too much of the money. She is too soft reared, and she makes the round of dances and theatre parties, and she is not prepared for the duties of the home."

"The other type of girl, the girl who lives in one room and takes her meals in the cafeteria—she isn't properly fitted either. She expects too much from her married life, and when she doesn't get it, she gets out of the house, from her husband."

"I admire the physique of the modern girl. She has become franker at times in a way, but then she is not learning. It is far wiser to let her learn to do what they find out."

"I speak against Judge Lindsay's approval of companionate marriages. It is nothing more than a term for sex, and the trouble these days is to get away from the sex, to get away from young girls and boys."

CROWDS SEEKING CURE BY HERMIT AROUSE MEXICO
Mexico City, Jan. 31 (A.P.)—Reports of "mimicry" cases by a hermit, a hermit in the city of Cuernavaca, Mexico, have brought up a problem in sanitation.

An increasing number of persons are traveling to see the hermit daily and railway traffic is congested. A petition has been presented to the government to permit the transportation of the hermit to a hospital.

The hermit, who is said to be a man of about 40 years of age, is named John Henry. He is a native of the United States and is said to have been a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

SECOND SECTION

False Teeth Kill War Vet when Rifles and Bombs Fail

Berlin, Jan. 31 (I.N.S.)—Police Sergeant Franz Schmidt a World War veteran and hero of many narrow escapes in pursuit of criminals, met death when he tumbled over a chair in his room and lost his false teeth.

Schmidt rose to close a window, fell across a large safe and as his jaw struck the floor his false teeth jammed in his mouth. He suffered without being able to summon help and was found dead on the floor the following morning.

Schmidt had, just prior to his death, during the war, but he had not had a set of false teeth in what rifle, machine gun and bombs failed to accomplish.

The Most Remarkable Personal Story of the Year, by a Real Hero

CHAPTER 20

I WENT by rail to St. Louis and took an O. N. S. Standard out for a barnstorming trip in Illinois, Missouri and Iowa. This was very shortly after my trip told of in the last chapter. The Post Office Department had just advertised a number of contract air mail routes for bid, one of which was between St. Louis and Chicago, by way of Springfield, Ill. I decided to barnstorm around the country until it was determined which bidder would be assigned the contract. The Robertson Aircraft Corporation had placed a bid and offered me the position of chief pilot if they were successful in getting the contract.

I flew on several flying three dates and made a few short cross-country flights to nearby cities.

On one second, while sitting on a commercial plane built at Lambert Field, I was forced to make a serious emergency jump. I had flown the ship for a few minutes the previous week and on this occasion was testing it for various maneuvers. I had completed everything except takeoffs, but when I attempted a rapid spin the plane refused even to start, so after a moment I attempted the same result.

I gave that up and tried one to the left. The ship fell in easily and when I reversed the controls after a half turn, came out at once.

I then put it into a second spin and held the controls in a spinning position during two complete turns. When I reversed them they had no apparent effect and using the engine was of no assistance. After trying for fifteen hundred feet to bring the ship out of the spin, I rolled over the right side of the cockpit, and since I had tumbled only about three hundred and fifty feet above the ground I pulled the rip cord as soon as the stabilizer had passed.

The chute opened quickly, but while it was functioning I had fallen faster than the spinning ship. On its next revolution the plane was again brought down, but the chute now close it had passed will never be known for the plane, having been torn from my harness were retained and being so around as the ship passed. However, less than twenty-five feet

Tigers Plan to Greet Coutu in Manner He Won't Soon Forget

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

N. Y. Americans Play Bruins at Arena

By BILL GRIMES

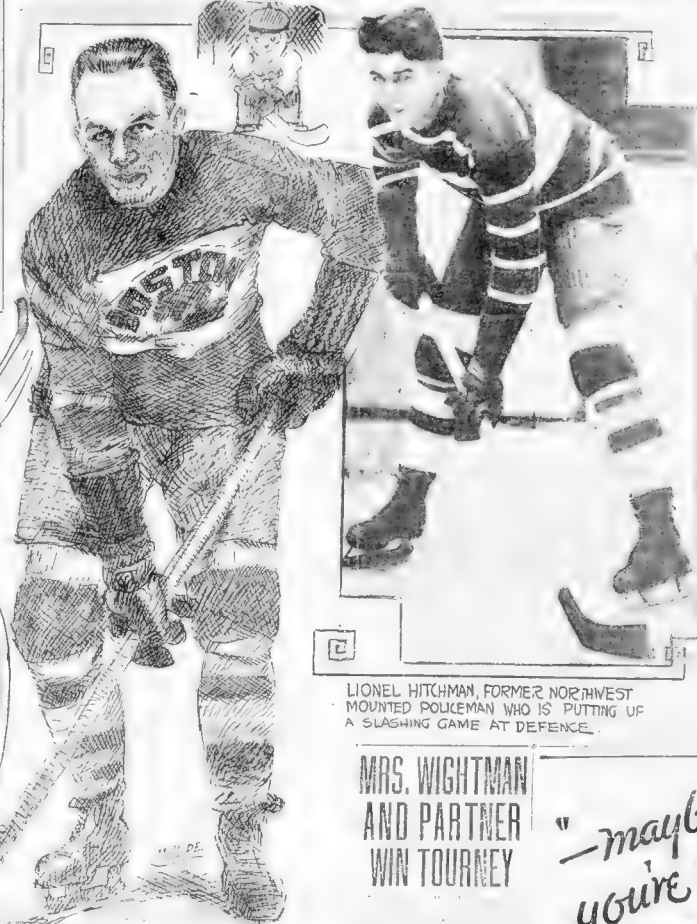

Unless the Bruins have recovered from their slump, they are in for more trouble tonight at the Arena when they tackle the New York Americans. The wearers of the tiger-striped outfits are badly crippled but still full of fight and feel that they are the masters of the local sextet.

never had anything on this trio of Bruins as a defense. The local six has been in a scoring slump all season, but because of the defensive ability of these young men the team is still in the running for the title. Tonight they will do their stuff against the New York Americans.

TIGERS MAKE READY TO GREET COUTU

When the order came to the Bruins to make ready to greet Coutu, the team was in a state of readiness. Household Hints

To lengthen the life of silk stockings, soak them in cold water for a few hours and dry before wearing them for the first time.

End Oil, Sallow Skin

A Little Cologne, properly applied on a face, will remove all the dirt and grime from the skin.

Spasmodic Croup Quickly Checked

Often with one application. Just rub Vicks over throat and chest.

COLLIER OVER
WOLF TONIGHT

The second of Franklin Collier's two children, Frances, will be out on the streets by WLAE at 7 o'clock tonight.

Scores of listeners enjoyed his drawings of Otis Grows last week, and they will be ready with lead pencil in hand for tonight's character drawing.

As was done last week, the drawings will be made on a certain spot at today's Eastern Evening American. Collier will tell his listeners just what steps to take to "The Healer will be told in plain the picture of his himself on a certain letter in the alphabet," and will then, at the point Collier will admit the movements of the listener's pencil from letter to letter until the complete drawing.

Time is on the 21st motive and be ready for the amazing drawing lesson. Collier will be building on the fact that people Collier's period on the air.

prison, clear the air of 159 prisoners; stations it believes were operating in public areas; and exposing to the House-Merchandise Marine committee today by O. Caldwell, a member of the commission.

"The commission intends to proceed and straighten out the situation as best it can, regardless of law suits it may incur," he said.

He indicated that the policy of the commission would be to assign its little stations to the same big and clear certain channels for larger ones.

Questioned by Representative Davis, Democrat, Tennessee, he said it would be in some evidence of monopoly in the broadcasting field, but that there is no extent monopolies.
